

How to log in to your Library Account

To access the My Library Card My Library Card section of Discover, visitors will need to set up an account (or use an existing e-mail address and a password have already set up an account).

1. Click on "Other library members" - the second option shown below.

2. Select Forgot Password?
3. Enter your email address (the one used to register with the Library) in the second box shown below.

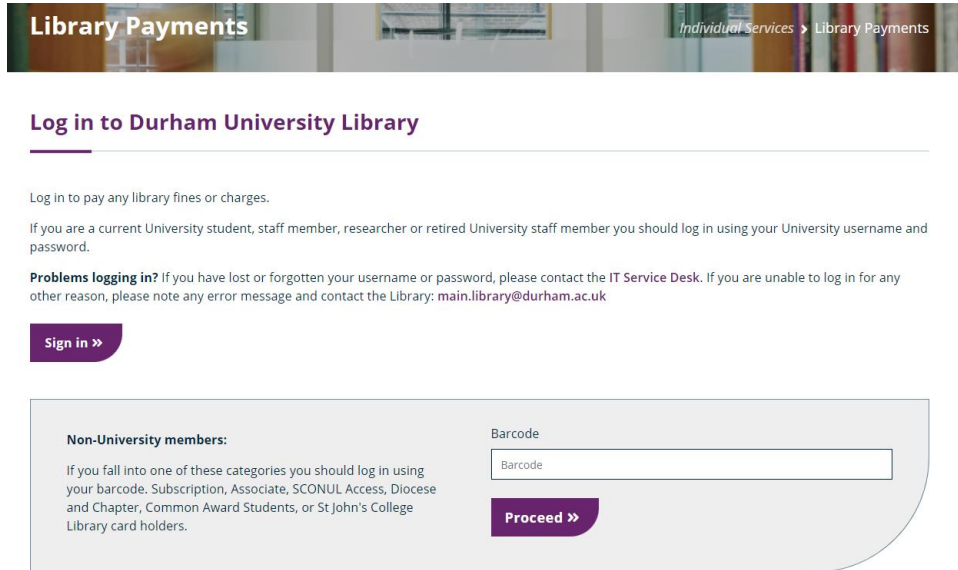

Sign In

Please enter your primary identifier or registered email address below

Or

4. You should now get an e-mail allowing you to set a new password, which you can use to log in each time you visit the site.
5. Once successfully logged in, visitors will need to add the barcode from their campus card in the Non-University members section to view details of their account.

Library Payments Individual Services > Library Payments

Log in to Durham University Library

Log in to pay any library fines or charges.

If you are a current University student, staff member, researcher or retired University staff member you should log in using your University username and password.

Problems logging in? If you have lost or forgotten your username or password, please contact the IT Service Desk. If you are unable to log in for any other reason, please note any error message and contact the Library: main.library@durham.ac.uk

Sign in >>

Non-University members:

If you fall into one of these categories you should log in using your barcode, Subscription, Associate, SCONUL Access, Diocese and Chapter, Common Award Students, or St John's College Library card holders.

Barcode

Proceed >>

6. If you have already completed this process and have forgotten your password, simply complete the process again.